

The LAI SemiQ East Coast Tour: Land Use & History (1776-2026)

2026 will be a landmark year as the United States celebrates the 250th anniversary of the signing of its Declaration of Independence—also known as the Semi-Quincentennial, or “SemiQ.” LAI’s East Region chapters have come together to develop a special series of programs honoring this historic milestone. Each chapter will host its own event, highlighting the SemiQ through the unique lens of its city and its contributions to land economics and the built environment. This is not a single conference, but a multi-city, multi-chapter initiative offering in-depth explorations of the history of architecture, planning, real estate development, economic drivers, and other factors and how they have shaped the evolution of land use in key East Coast locations.

Here is a glimpse of the programs currently scheduled for the SemiQ East Coast Tours. Come to one, come to all, or pick and choose. All events will be on Thursdays and Fridays allowing participants to extend for the weekend. Please check the links noted below for the full calendar of SemiQ events and registration details. Early bird rates may be available for certain events, so secure your spot for the programs that matter most to you and your guests!
