LAI SemiQ 2026 East Coast Tour: Land Use & History (1776-2026)

Lambda Alpha International's North American East Region Chapters are hosting special, limited availability, events to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence – also known as the Semi-Quincentennial, or "SemiQ."

Each LAI chapter in the East Region is celebrating its own unique history, with a focus on land economics and the built environment. This is not a single conference, but a multi-city, multi-chapter initiative offering in-depth explorations of the history, local architecture, planning, real estate development, economic drivers, and other factors that have shaped the evolution of our nation's history and land use in these key East Coast locations. We look forward to seeing you!

Welcome!

Along with the City's Mayor and the 250th Commission, Lambda Alpha International Baltimore Chapter welcomes all of our members and guests to Annapolis. We have planned a full day of speakers, walking tours, and meals. Our aim is to provide you with insights on the history of land use in Annapolis in Revolutionary times, how it has evolved, and how this history has affected and been affected by changes in the rest of the country. We also urge you to consider attending LAI's SemiQ events in other East Coast cities.

We wish you a great day here in Annapolis, especially as the Maryland Day week of activities begin celebrating the founding of the colony of Maryland in 1634.

Greetings!

It is my honor to extend greetings on behalf of the City of Annapolis as we welcome members and guests of Lambda Alpha International for the second stage of your Semi-sesquicentennial celebration. Each year, this remarkable organization reminds us not only of the enduring impact of your work, but of the individuals who dedicate themselves to advancing excellence in the field of real estate and urban development.

Annapolis has long been a city of historic significance. As America's first peacetime capital, the place where George Washington relinquished command of the Continental Army, and the home of four signers of the Declaration of Independence, our City stands as a living testament to leadership, vision, and civic engagement. Your gathering here honors these principles and underscores the importance of knowledge, collaboration, and community in shaping our shared future.

As we come together for this event, we celebrate the achievements of Lambda Alpha International and its members, while recognizing the ongoing work that strengthens our cities and communities. Your commitment to research, education, and networking enriches our profession and contributes to the greater good.

I extend my sincere appreciation to those who organized this event and to the members and guests who traveled to Annapolis to participate. Your dedication inspires us all to continue building cities that are thoughtful, resilient, and equitable.

On behalf of the City of Annapolis, I am pleased to welcome you and pledge that we will do everything possible to make your stay both enjoyable and memorable.

Warmest regards,

Jared Littmann
Mayor of Annapolis
