

Miles Gibson – Brief Biography

Miles Gibson has been the head of CBRE's 18-strong UK Research team since September 2014. Its mission is to provide unrivalled insights into the UK property market for CBRE clients. CBRE is the world's largest integrated property services firm. Prior to joining CBRE Miles was a senior civil servant for more than a decade, working in HM Treasury, the Cabinet Office, and the Department for Communities and Local Government. He has worked with and for most of the leading politicians of our generation in roles which have made him a recognised and high-profile real estate expert, particularly in housing, high streets, land use planning, infrastructure and property taxation. In 2014 Lord (Simon) Wolfson of Aspley Guise appointed Miles as Director of the Wolfson Economics Prize on garden cities. Miles is a fully qualified town planner, has a degree in architecture, and has been a Visiting Lecturer at Cambridge University.
